PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a freshman currently pursuing a Bachelor's in Computer Applications, equipped with a strong foundation in web development and real-world experience as a Full Stack Developer Intern. Throughout my internships, I have designed and built responsive web interfaces, optimized database performance, and collaborated on scalable, user-centric applications.

I enjoy turning complex problems into simple, effective solutions using modern frameworks and tools like Angular, Java, Spring Boot, MySQL, and more. I continuously seek to improve my coding practices, stay up to date with technology trends, and contribute to impactful development teams. Now, I'm looking to bring my skills and dedication to a dynamic software development role where I can continue to grow while contributing to high-quality and reliable tech solutions across industries.
